

Every half term we bring together creative artwork produced by Highgate Primary School in the art room. This term we were busy getting ready for the Christmas festivities.

Without further ado, let's go straight to the work...

Year 5 learnt about the impact of developments in technology on society during the Industrial Revolution. In the art room, the children experienced the difference between wrought iron, working in a design by hand and tools, and cast iron; working in a design with a mould. The final artwork is displayed at the school entrance.

Immersed in the Christmas festivities, Nursery were rolling, stamping and cutting out tiles of clay. They carefully chose the colours and painted them with rolls.

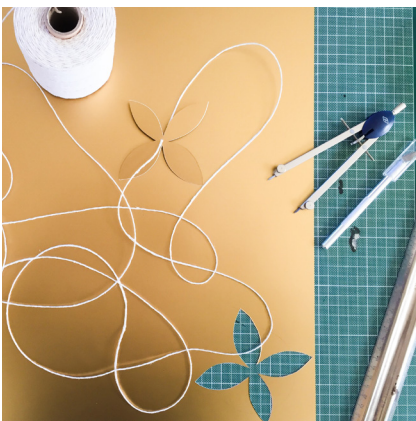

A genuine diversity of objects were designed by our Year 2 nurture group, as they came to the art room to develop their own ideas in clay.

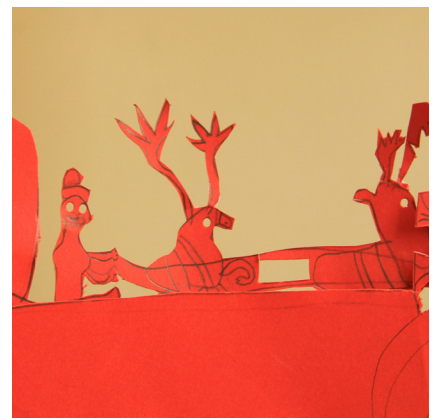

The Sketch Club was in charge of the grotto decorations for the Christmas Fair. Hands-on, they recycled paper and fabrics to create giant baubles, wrapping presents with textile, cutting and sawing shocks, painting beautiful garlands and clay balls. And what a privilege for them, Santa was there!

Year 4 investigated sound and vision and explored relationships between light and shadow. Inspired by the book 'Twas the Night Before Christmas by Clement Clarke Moore, children gave life to Saint Nick, recreating each of the poems in a Christmas shadow puppet box display in the Grotto at the Christmas fair.

Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night! ...
